PROFILE

I am a Theatre Artist from Seattle, Washington. While my theatrical journey began with performance, I was always allured by the creative freedom that coincided with directing. I Assistant Directed two productions when I was still a blossoming young performer, Sideways Stories in from Wayside School in 2013, and Alice in Wonderland in 2014. I continued this passion for directing in college when I started directing student work, beginning with an original play entitled So Far From Saving Me. I started taking classes in directing, play analysis, production and dramaturgy in effort to hone my skills. My official directorial debut was set to be on March 27th, 2020 with a production of David Auburn's Proof. However, thanks to the pandemic, we were forced to stop work about two weeks prior to opening. I decided to continue my newfound love of directing by taking my work to the Zoom stage. Since the start of the pandemic I've directed several online productions, but I am excited to make my return to in-person theatre this summer.
